Showboat is your new Super Bowl Champion on the tenth Anniversary of our league. They were able to finish off an improbable season with a fantasy football championship as they became the first ever #6 seed to win the championship and send Rapids Plungers to yet another disappointing playoff defeat. This was not at all what I expected from this game as based on the past couple of weeks I expected a much higher scoring game in what will go down as not only the lowest scoring game in Super Bowl history but also the closest Super Bowl! Just to put this into perspective, Rapids Plungers you could say lost by a mere 3 yards as Josh Gordon finished with 97 yards receiving and with another 3 yards would have got the +5 points for the 100 yard bonus. The other item that we were watching closely was the battle between Dez Bryant and Calvin Johnson and interestingly enough despite the loss by Rapids Plungers Dez Bryant ended up outscoring Johnson 14-5. All this doesn't matter as it's not about how you win but rather the fact that you outscored your opponent one more time and Showboat did just that. They become just the third team in league history to win multiple championships. This will certainly be a season to remember for so many reasons but mainly because of the path they took to win it all! Congratulations Showboat on a Championship Season!

Pack Attack defeats pack slayer to finish in Third Place

After winning their third championship last season Pack Attack had a solid run again this year but fell a game short. They were however able to take care of business this week against pack slayer to finish in 3rd place. Pack slayer finishes in 4th place yet again. In this their 3rd season they have finishes of 4th, 6th and 4th. And they have made the playoffs in each of their first three seasons which is a tough feat but at some point you have to get to and win the big dance! Maybe next year?

A note from the commissioner:

Thanks again for making this yet another great fantasy football year. And once again it proved that once you make it to the playoffs anything can happen! For those of you that didn't finish the season the way you had hoped you can always make up for it next year. As always if you have any ideas on how to improve the league or stat categories you would like to see added or removed please send me your suggestions!

I will be working to update the website with the updated History as soon as I can. Also as mentioned in the beginning of the year I mentioned some different ideas for the Super Bowl winner. I will be sure that you all have the opportunity to see what those are.

Have a Happy New Year and enjoy the NFL Playoffs!
