Keepers Fantasy Football XVI Champion – Rapids Plungers!

Rapids Plungers is on top of the world!

Congratulations to Rapids Plungers and their coach Tony Devivo on their first ever Keepers Fantasy Football championship! After the Saturday games things weren't terrible but I am sure they felt disappointed with D. Hopkins and his lack of production. That all changed quickly for Rapids Plungers as the noon games on Sunday went about as good as he could have imagined. It is pretty amazing that they were led by Ryan Fitzpatrick and his 40.98 points! It took a lot of guts to start him in the biggest stage this week but there was still some "Fitzmagic" left and that was the biggest difference in this game. There isn't a lot of coaches that invest more time and energy into their team than Rapids Plungers so to finally see that culminate into a championship year has got to have them feeling on top of the world! This wasn't a "fluky" kind of win as they dominated much like they did most of the year. This was a team that dominated in the early part of the year, slipped a bit had to deal with a "stat geek" talking about how terrible they have been in the playoffs and through it all they came out on top! Well done and well deserved Rapids Plungers! For Bossman, they gave it their best shot and did everything they could to win their third championship but in the end they were beat by a better opponent this week. They had a great year and I am sure this will motivate them to come back stronger next season. Congratulations Bossman on a great year!

Scoreboard:

SUPER BOWL XVI

(2) Rapids Plungers - 180.70
vs.
(1) Bossman - 119.50

3rd Place game

(4) pack slayer – 169.96
vs.
(3) Big Papa – 123.18

Pack slayer takes down Big Papa for Third Place!

Yes, this is the third place game and at the end of the day the only person with their name on the trophy is those that finish first BUT I will mention that pack slayer dominated Big Papa to finish in third. One year after finishing in 2nd they now fall to third. Maybe next year they get that elusive first championship? Big Papa also had a solid season and they came .08 points away from making the Super Bowl! Both of these teams fought hard and will be looking for their first ever championships next season. Well done by both teams on a solid season!

A note from the commissioner:

Thanks for another great year of Fantasy Football! It was awesome how engaged everyone was this year and I hope that continues next season! Hard to believe the Fantasy season is done but already looking forward to draft day! 😊

As always if there are suggestions you have for next years league please let me know.

Merry Christmas and enjoy the NFL Playoffs!

See you all next year!
